

Red Balloons by allgoodisnow89

Category: Avengers, IT

Genre: Romance

Language: English

Characters: Iron Man/Tony S.

Status: Completed

Published: 2018-03-19 17:09:49

Updated: 2018-03-19 17:09:49

Packaged: 2019-12-12 02:40:12

Rating: K

Chapters: 1

Words: 493

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: Tony Stark and Pennywise the Dancing Clown are dating. One day, Pennywise randomly gave Tony a dozen of red balloons, just because he loves his human mate.

Red Balloons

"So, Penny, this is where you live?" Tony asked, surprised. He was imagining some type of circus where in boyfriend of 4 months, Pennywise the Dancing Clown, lived. But no, the alien clown had brought Tony Stark in the infamous Neibolt house in Maine. Pennywise already showed him the sewers. And Tony didn't like spending time there.

"Yes, I do live here. Why you ask, little human?"

"Just asking. Well, is this house connected to your sewers?"

"Yes, through a well on one of the rooms here".

Tony continued to look around during his surroundings. The house was obviously in a bad state, like if it hasn't been bothered to be looked after. Both he and his gigantic alien of a boyfriend were found in the rather large living room. The room contained a ripped and smelly sofa on one corner, a small wooden table right beside it. And an obviously broken TV was present. The windows had age-old curtains whom had seen better days. A very old stained rug was seen in the middle of the room. Other than those items, the living room was missing some things to make it more 'lively'.

"You like living here, Penny?"

"Why do you ask? I am not picky about where I want to live, unlike you, little human of mine".

"I am just asking. And in my case, I like living the good life. And you know that very well".

Pennywise just looked at Tony. One of his eyes started drifting to another direction and that creeped Tony a little, since he wasn't around or communicated with people who were cross-eyed very often in his lifetime.

"What actually brings you here, Anthony?"

Surprised at being called by his first name, Tony answered, "I can't come to see my alien of a boyfriend? Because that question offended me".

Pennywise, frowning at the fact of upsetting his mate, got up from his spot in the nearly broken table and went to hug his much shorter other half. Tony only came up to his mid-chest. Tony then quickly hugged him back, causing Pennywise to smile.

Letting Tony go, he said, "Close your eyes".

"Why?"

"Just do it".

Tony then closed his eyes. Pennywise did his magic and made several red balloons appear out of thin air. He knew that Tony was getting impatient due to his hands were fidgeting with the hem of his Black Sabbath shirt.

"Now, you can open them".

Tony slowly open his eyes, kind of expecting the worst. He was dating Pennywise for crying out.

He saw Pennywise holding about a dozen of red balloons in his left hand.

"These are for you, Tony".

Smiling, Tony accepted them with eager hands. He felt like a little kid in a fair.

"Oh, thank you boyfriend for these."

Pennywise gave a smile in response. He enjoyed making Tony happy.

"I love you, Tony".

"I love you too, Pennywise".